The Constitution.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, In the Providence of God, victory having crowned the allied forces of the United States of America, in upholding the principles of the Nation against Great Britain in the conflict known as the War of 1812; we, the survivors and descendants of those who participated in that contest, have joined together to perpetuate its memories and victories, to collect and secure for preservation, rolls, records, books and other documents relating to that period; to encourage research and publication of historical data, including memorials of patriots of that era in our national history; the establishment of a library and museum; to care for and, when necessary, assist in burying actual veterans of that struggle; to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, and foster true patriotism and love of country.

ARTICLE I.

Name. The Society shall be known as the "General Society of the War of 1812."

ARTICLE II.

Membership. Any male person above the age of twenty-one years, who participated in, or who is a lineal descendant of one who served during the War of 1812, in the army, navy, revenue-marine or privateer service of the United States, offering proof thereof satisfactory to the Executive Committee, and of good moral character and reputation, may become a member of this Society when approved of by the Board of Direction or the Society.

In case of the failure of lineal descendants of an actual participant in the war on behalf of the United States, one collateral descendant, whom the Board of Direction deems worthy, may be admitted to represent the said participant.

ARTICLE III.

Officers.

The officers shall consist of a President, five Vice-Presidents, a Secretary, a Treasurer, a Registrar, and an Executive Committee of nine members, who, together, shall form the Board of Direction, having the general management of the affairs of this Society. They shall be chosen by ballot at the annual meetings of the Society, by and from members in good standing.

The Board of Direction shall control the affairs of the Society, regulate the terms and details of admission to membership, fix salaries, make appropriations, arrange for meetings (other than annual), and celebrations, provide relief in sickness or death of actual veterans, receive delegates from similar constituted societies or individuals of national reputation—as patriots,—and collect and provide for the due care and safety of books, documents, papers, portraits, relics and such literature relating to the War of 1812 as may be acquired by purchase, gift, bequest or loan.

ARTICLE IV.

Admission of Members.

Every application for membership shall be made in writing, subscribed by the applicant, setting forth claims of eligibility, and contain or be accompanied by, proofs of same.

On the recommendation of two members, such application and proofs shall be submitted to the Executive Committee or to such sub-committee as they may select, who may approve of and report the same to the Board of Direction. Payment of the initiation fee and subscription to the declaration in the printed form of application, is required of each applicant on admission.

ARTICLE V.

Meetings.

The regular meeting of the General Society shall be held in the City of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, United States of America, on the eighteenth day of February, in each year, (unless it shall fall upon Sunday, when the day subsequent may be substituted), that being the anniversary of the proclamation of peace in 1815, the end of the War of 1812.

The Board of Direction will hold their annual meeting on or about the nineteenth day of June in each year, the anniversary of the declaration of war in 1812, by the United States against Great Britain.

Special meetings may be called by the President at the request of ten or more members, to transact only such business as shall be specified in the call. No questions involving partisan politics, religion or offensive personalities shall be discussed at any meeting.

When practicable, the meetings shall be held in the old Senate chamber of the United States, where Washington and Adams were inaugurated.

ARTICLE VI.

Branch Societies.

The General Society, seated and located in the City of Philadelphia, shall have the right to warrant, constitute and recognize one branch in any State or Territory of the United States, whenever eighteen or more members of this Society residing in said State or Territory shall apply for authority to organize such branch, or where such Society may already be formed and is approved by this Society.

Each State branch shall pay into the treasury of this Society an entrance-fee of ten dollars, and remit annually thereafter the sum of twenty-five cents for each and every member in good standing on the rolls of each branch Society, as reported on January 1st of each year.

The several branch Societies shall conform to this organization in constitution, insignia and certificates of membership, also in the number and character of its officials, but shall have the right respectively to rule each its own affairs outside of these restrictions. Each branch Society may send delegates to represent its membership at the annual meeting of the General Society, in February of each year, at Philadelphia.

The Secretary of each branch Society shall transmit to the Secretary of the General Society a list of the members thereof, together with a list of those from whom said members derive claim to membership, and thereafter, upon the admission of additional members, the Secretary thereof shall transmit to the General Society such similar information respecting said members.

ARTICLE VII.

Expulsion of Members.

Any member found guilty of unlawful or improper conduct, after due notice and fair trial, may be expelled under rules and regulations made and provided for that purpose.

ARTICLE VIII.

Insignia.

The insignia of the Society shall consist of a badge of gold or bronze, pendant from a ribbon and bar. Said badge shall be in the form of a Maltese cross, (emblematic of faith in our country), between four eagles, (representing the four sections—north, south, east and west—of our common country), and resting upon an anchor, (representative of the American navy by which so many glorious victories of the War of 1812 were achieved). The arms of the cross to bear insignia representing the four arms of service, (infantry, cavalry, artillery and naval), and in the center thereof, a medallion bearing the bust of General Andrew Jackson, distinguished as a hero of the war and afterwards as President of these United States. The bar of the anchor to be inscribed with the figures 1812, and the anchor to be suspended from the ribbon by a ring of gold or bronze. The ribbon shall be dark blue, watered and edged with white and black successively; the entire ribbon to be one and one-half inches in width, and one and one-half inches in displayed length. The bar suspending the ribbon shall be surrounded by a band of eighteen stars, emblematic of the number of the States of the Union during the war.

The insignia shall be worn on the left breast by the members of the Society at all general meetings, on all occasions of ceremony, or when they shall assemble for any stated purpose or celebration. On all other occasions, other than those specified above, members may wear a rosette of the prescribed ribbon and pattern, in the upper buttonhole of the left lapel of the coat, which rosettes, like the insignia, shall be procured and issued by the Secretary of the Society, and by whom a record of all issues to members will be kept. The insignia shall never be worn as an article of jewelry or ornament, and should be returned to the society on the resignation or expulsion of a member; but otherwise, it shall be deemed an heirloom.

ARTICLE IX.

Seal. The seal of the Society shall be two and one-half inches in diameter, and shall consist of a rising sun, bearing on its face a representation of the bombardment of Fort McHenry by the British fleet, while above the sun and its rays, rises, displayed, the Star Spangled Banner of our country, with the motto of the Society—"For our country's rights"—in small Roman capital letters overhead. The design described to be surrounded by wreaths of oak and laurel, (emblematic of the valor and victory of our soldiers and sailors), with trophies of cannon, musket, sword and anchor on each side of, and below said design. The whole to be encircled with a waving ribbon, one-fourth of an inch wide, bearing above, in plain Roman capital letters, the legend, "The Society of the War of 1812," and below, in similar letters, the words, "Founded 1854." The Secretary of the Society shall be the custodian of the seal, which shall be used only for the purposes designated by the Board of Direction.

After the latter date, members who have not paid, will be deemed in arrear and debarred from voting at the meetings of the Society. Persons admitted to membership after October 1st of any year, are exempt from payment of dues for that year. The payment at any one time of fifty (50) dollars shall entitle the member so paying, to a life membership. The payment of one hundred (100) dollars at any one time, shall constitute a perpetual or endowed membership and upon the death of the member so paying, the said membership shall descend to and be held by his eldest son or such other descendant from the ancestor from whom claim is made, as he may nominate. In case of failure of such nomination having been made, the Society may decide which one of the descendants shall hold said membership. Provided, always: That the Society reserves to itself in all cases the right of rejecting any nomination that may not be acceptable to it. All those holding life or endowed memberships, will be exempt from the payment of the initiation fee and annual dues.

The permanent fund, acquired by contributions, donations and legacies, shall remain forever to the use of the Society, the income thereof to be used for the assistance of such deserving members, who are veterans of the War of 1812, that may need financial aid; and if not so required, then for the purposes of the library and museum, and for the general welfare of the Society.

SECTION 2.

Duties of Officers. The President, or, in his absence, a Vice-President, or, in their absence, a Chairman pro tempore, shall preside at all meetings of the Society or Board of Direction, and shall exercise the usual functions of a

He shall have power to call a meeting of the Board of Direction at such time and place, as he may deem advisable. He shall represent this Society, either in person or by substitute, at such assemblages as may be consistent with the objects, aims and purposes of this Society.

In case of his decease, resignation, neglect to serve, or inability from any cause to act as President, the duties of the office shall devolve on the senior Vice-President until the disability shall cease or his successor is duly elected and qualified.

SECTION 3.

Secretary. The Secretary shall conduct the general correspondence of the Society and keep a record thereof. He shall notify all accepted candidates of their admission and perform such other duties as the Society or Board of Direction may reasonably require of him. He shall have charge of the seal, certificates of incorporation, insignia, constitution, rules and resolutions, historical and other documents, and records of the Society, (other than those required to be deposited with the Registrar), and shall affix the seal to all properly authenticated certificates of membership and transmit the same to the member for whom it shall be issued.

He shall notify the Registrar of all admissions to membership and transmit to him, the applications and proofs of eligibility of all persons admitted. He, together with the presiding officer, shall, when necessary, certify all acts of the Society and in proper cases, authenticate them under seal. He, with the Registrar, shall have charge of all printing and publications directed by the Society or Board of Direction. He shall give due notice of the time and place of all meetings of the Society, and of the Board of Direction, and shall attend the same. He shall keep fair and accurate records of all the proceedings and orders of the Society and of the Board of Direction, and shall give notice to the several officers of all proceedings appertaining to their respective duties; and at the annual meeting, or oftener, if required, shall report to the Society the names of those who have been admitted to membership and the names of those who, from any reason, have been disassociated. The Secretary shall also notify the Historian and Registrar of all deaths in the Society, and, where convenient, these officers may represent the Society at the funerals of deceased members.

An Assistant-Secretary may be appointed by the President, who shall perform the functions assigned him by the Secretary, and in the absence or inability of that officer, fill his place.

SECTION 4.

Treasurer. The Treasurer shall collect and keep the funds and securities of the Society, and deposit the same in some banking institution, which shall be designated by the Board of Direction, to the credit of the "Society of the War of 1812." Such funds shall be drawn thence by the check of the Treasurer, countersigned by the President, to be used only for the purposes of the Society. Checks for sums not larger than twenty-five dollars need not be countersigned.

Out of these funds the Treasurer shall pay such sums as may be ordered by the Society, Board of Direction, or, in case of urgent necessity, the Executive Committee. He shall keep a true and accurate account of his receipts and payments; and at each annual meeting, report the full financial condition of the Society, when an auditing committee shall be appointed, who shall report the result of their audit to the Board of Direction.

SECTION 5.

Registrar. The Registrar shall receive from the Secretary, file and keep on record, all the proofs upon which membership has been granted; a list of all certificates countersigned by him, and all documents, rolls, or other evidences of service in the War of 1812, of which the Society may become possessed; and shall make, or cause to be made, for filing in his office, copies of such original or certified copies of such documents, as the owners thereof may not be willing to leave permanently in the keeping of the Society. He shall receive donations of books, documents and relics relating to American history of the first twenty-five years of the nineteenth century, and, under the direction of the Executive Committee, secure such publications, manuscripts or objects of interest, as may be obtainable by purchase, for preservation in the library or museum.

He shall aid and co-operate with the Secretary in all printing and publications ordered by the Society, or Board of Direction, correspond with Registrars of patriotic societies in the United States, and, whenever convenient, accompany the Secretary to funerals of deceased members.

SECTION 6.

Board of Direction.

The Board of Direction, composed of the elective officers of the Society, united with the Executive Committee, shall generally superintend the interests, and have the control and management of the affairs and funds of the Society. The Board shall receive nominations for officers, filed prior to the first day of January in each year, and shall prepare the tickets for voting, by the members at the annual meeting in the February following.

The said Board shall have power to consent to and accept the resignation or voluntary withdrawal from membership of any enrolled member of the Society, and may also issue an authorization to every enrolled member of this Society, in good standing and repute, to be admitted as a member and affiliate with any branch Society recognized by this General Society.

They may require the attendance of any member, or any official or committee of this Society, at any meeting, for consultation or advice. The annual meeting of the Board shall be held on, or about the date of the anniversary of the declaration of war by the United States against Great Britain. The Board shall also hold a preliminary meeting in January, to prepare business for the annual general meeting of the Society in the February following. The Board may also be convened by the President at the written request of three of its members. Five members shall constitue a quorum for the transaction of business.

At the annual meeting of the Society, the Board shall submit a general report of its proceedings during the year then closing, and at such other times as may be required by the Society.

The Board of Direction shall have power to suspend any enrolled member of the Society who, by ungentlemanly conduct or by a radical opposition to its interests, may render himself unworthy to continue a member, or wilfully neglects to fulfill the requirements of the constitution and rules of this Society. Such accused member shall be entitled to receive thirty days' notice of the complaint preferred against him, and be afforded a fair opportunity to be heard in person, before suspension. If no appeal be taken within sixty days, such suspension shall become expulsion and be so reported to the Society at its annual meeting.

They may direct the Secretary to drop the name of any member from the rolls, who shall be in arrear in the payment of his dues for the period of three years; but such name may be restored subsequently, by a vote of two-thirds of the Board, on an application by such member being made therefor and payment of all arrears up to date.

The Board may suspend any officer for clear cause of lack of integrity, want of faithfulness, or for gross neglect in the performance of his duties and report the same to the Society within sixty days, by which, after fair opportunity for hearing, such action may be confirmed; or by a vote of two-thirds of the members present at the meeting, the suspension be annulled and the officer restored to his position.

Whenever an officer of this Society shall die, resign or neglect to serve, or be suspended or removed, or be unable to properly perform his duties from any cause; and whenever an office shall become vacant which the Society has not filled by an election; the Board of Direction shall have power to appoint a member to the vacant office, until the inability to act shall cease. Provided, that the office of President shall not thus be filled, when there shall be a Vice-President competent to act.

SECTION 7.

Executive Committee.

The Executive Committee shall judge of the qualifications of every candidate who shall make proper application for admission to the Society, and shall have power to admit him to membership therein, subject to the approval of the Board of Direction. Three negative votes shall be a rejection of the applicant.

The said Executive Committee may, through the Secretary, call a special meeting of the Society at such times as may be necessary, and arrange for business meetings and commemorative celebrations by the Society.

The said Committee may hold meetings monthly, to act upon applications for membership, and consider all matters proper for the attention and action of the Board of Direction at the annual meeting of that body.

It may suggest the names of three clergymen, from which list the President shall appoint a Chaplain to serve one year. It may also suggest the names of three members, from whom the President shall appoint an Historian to serve one year, and who shall prepare at least one historical paper and obituaries of deceased members during the year.

SECTION 8.

Meetings. Ten days' notice of time and place of annual or special meetings may be given by publication in two daily newspapers in the City of Philadelphia, and by mailing through the Post Office, a written or printed notice to every member of the Society. At all meetings of the Society, twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

The order of business shall be as follows:—

Change of residence should at once be communicated to the Secretary, as service of notice at his last recorded address shall be considered sufficient.

SECTION 10.

Suspension of Rules. Any of the foregoing rules may be suspended at any meeting of the Society or Board of Direction, by a two-thirds vote of those present, when the exigencies of the case may require it.

NOTE.

The Publication Committee has endeavored to give in the foregoing Register of Membership, the service record of each member, (if veteran,) or, (if a descendant,) of the ancestor from whom he claims membership, so far as at present attainable from their applications or records in possession of the Society. In order to preserve uniformity, the Committee has been under the necessity of omitting generally, mention of service in battles, (except where specially distinguished,) and all rank attained after the close of the war.

The principal object at present, is to offer in convenient form for reference, the Charter, Constitution and Rules of the Society, with a list of veteran members and their representative descendants; deferring to a future publication a more complete record in each case, as the individual members furnish the necessary data, for either additions or corrections, to the Secretary of the Society.
